Welcome, November-

By Great Eastern Management Company

The leaves are turning, the air is getting crisp, and the season of gratitude is upon us. As we head into this cozy time of year, it's the perfect opportunity to connect with neighbors, enjoy fall activities, and make the most of everything our community has to offer.

This month, we'll be sharing updates, upcoming events, and helpful tips to help you celebrate the season and feel right at home. We hope November brings warmth, joy, and plenty of reasons to be thankful.

Parking Reminder:

As we head into the holiday season, we know many of you will have family and friends visiting. We love seeing guests enjoy our community but please remember to ensure they display a visitor parking pass at all times while on property. Thank you for helping us keep parking running smoothly for everyone!

Should I call maintenance?

If you're wondering whether to call maintenance, the answer is likely yes. Many residents hesitate to report small issues, thinking they don't want to "make a fuss." However, even minor problems can grow into bigger ones if they're left unaddressed.

In some situations, failing to report an issue promptly could make you responsible for any additional damage that occurs. When in doubt, it's always best to report the problem and let our maintenance team determine if a repair is needed.
